

FDLP Connection, Issue 3 Released

The October 2011 issue of FDLP Connection has been released. This issue focuses on education and training as we prepare for the 2011 Depository Library Council Meeting and Federal Depository Library Conference (Meeting and Conference) and the transition from GPO Access to FDsys. In addition to Mary Alice Baish providing her insights as Superintendent of Documents, three contributions from your community colleagues share insights into unique services provided at their libraries.

Also in this issue, we feature:

- * Towson University joins the FDLP
- * Joe Paskoski's 40 years of Federal service
- * GPO's Public Documents Library, 1895-1971 (Part 2)
- * Federal court opinions in FDsys
- * Spotlights on libraries and partners

and more!

Sign up to receive our newsletter via email. Next month, the focus will be on "discoverability," while December will feature a wrap-up of the Meeting and Conference.

Share your expertise, unique services, and other items of interest with fellow colleagues throughout the library community by contributing to future issues of FDLP Connection.

For submissions or questions, use askGPO and choose "Federal Depository Libraries" as the category and "FDLP Connection" as the subcategory.

Cynthia Etkin & Kelly Seifert
Co-Editors, FDLP Connection
U.S. Government Printing Office